

About Lego®-based group therapy 2024

Lego® based therapy is an engaging play-based way to support children's social communication development. In small groups and while constructing Lego® projects, children collaborate, communicate, and problem-solve together.

Lego®-based therapy supports the development of:

- Social and communication skills
- Problem-solving
- Concentration
- Fine motor skills
- Learning about other people's strengths and skills
- Relationship building
- Critical thinking
- Emotional and sensory awareness
