

Seasons For Growth

Seasons for Growth supports children to develop the skills to understand and respond well to experiences of change, loss and grief. The Seasons for Growth programme is a small-group evidence-based programme for children aged 6-12 years.

Seasons for Growth is based on the belief that change and loss are part of life and grief is a normal response to these losses. The four seasons are used as a metaphor to explore the cyclic nature of grief and is based on William Worden's four tasks of grieving.
